

RUBY DEVELOPER

BuildEmpire are looking for a self-motivated and passionate Ruby developer, with at least a year of commercial experience who shares our values in collaboration, creativity and innovative ideas.

Your job will entail writing tested code for your assigned projects; as a developer you should be capable of communicating clearly and effectively - both in technical scenarios, and also on a non-technical level, e.g. when liaising with clients. You will also be required to take part in code reviews of other developer's contributions to projects.

We require the candidate to have experience of:

- Ruby 2.5+ (We are currently updating to 2.6)
- Ruby on Rails (5.2+)
- Database Systems (eg. MySQL, PostgreSQL)
- JSON API Resources
- Testing (eg. RSpec, FactoryBot)
- Queue Systems (eg. Sidekiq, Resque).
- Caching Systems (eg. Redis)

It would be nice for the candidate to have experience of:

- Elasticsearch
- Capistrano
- Vagrant and/or Docker
- Chef
- Interacting with 3rd Party APIs
- Single Sign On

What are we offering in return?

At BuildEmpire, we know that a happy team does the best work. It is important to us that you enjoy coming to work and are given the opportunity to grow and be innovative in your role. Here are some of the benefits we offer to make sure our staff feel great about their job:

- Half day Fridays!
- Employee-focused and friendly team
- Employer-matched pension scheme (4%)
- Annual hack days (2 days a year to work on anything that will benefit the company)
- Flexible working hours, and work from home opportunities
- Light and spacious offices with on-site parking, excellent transport links and amenities close by in Didsbury
- Relaxed dress code and music while you work
- 24 days' holiday, plus bank holidays
- Professional development and training opportunities
- Social opportunities outside the office, for those who wish to take part

About Us:

We are a company owned and led by a developer, with over 15 years' commercial experience. We work with household names such as Breville, Crockpot, Apollo Global and BPP. We work on a range of bespoke web applications, Virtual Learning Environments (VLEs), Content Management Systems (CMSs), eCommerce shop fronts amongst other exciting projects. We value innovation and great relationships with our clients very highly, and because of this we are a growing business with plenty of opportunities for progression. Our team are the best in their field, and our work reflects this.

If this sounds like a team you want to be a part of, send us your CV along with a cover letter, and some examples of your design work, to recruitment@buildempire.co.uk.